

PROVIDING NURSE PRACTITIONERS WITH PHARMACOLOGY EXPERTISE

Florida Atlantic University's Christine E. Lynn College of Nursing IS INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED FOR ADVANCING THE ART AND SCIENCE OF CARING.

The College will offer three fully-online Pharmacology courses to working nurse practitioners for use in their own practice settings. For those interested in applying for independent practice in Florida, a 3-credit hour pharmacology course within the past five years is required.

Advanced Pharmacotherapeutics (NGR 6172) 3 credit hours

Builds on foundational knowledge of the use of pharmacotherapeutic agents including complementary and alternative therapies. Focuses on the major drug categories for physiological systems with indications, therapeutic and adverse effects and drug interactions in individuals across the lifespan in the promotion, maintenance and restoration of health.

Advanced Pharmacotherapeutics 2 (NGR 6176) 3 credit hours

Builds on the principles of advanced pharmacotherapeutics and is designed to prepare advanced nursing practice students for their prescribing role as primary care providers. Focuses on the application of contemporary advanced drug knowledge and evidence-based decision making in the clinical setting for safe and effective prescribing across the lifespan.

Psychopharmacology Across the Lifespan for Advanced Nursing Practice (NGR 6538) 3 credit hours

Addresses advanced concepts in neurobiology, pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics and psychopharmacologic treatment of individuals with psychiatric and mental disorders across the lifespan.

CEUs

The cost is $371.82 per credit hour (fees included) for Florida residents. College credit hours may be used for CEUs for professional licensure. A three-credit hour course would be equivalent to 45 CEU hours.

Classes offered on a limited basis. Tuition waivers are available for those who provide a clinical experience to our students as a preceptor.

Apply and Register

Non-degree seeking students should apply now. There is a $30 application fee. Registration begins August 17. Fall classes start August 22.

For information on registration, contact Matt Patterson at 561-297-3261 or pattersonm@health.fau.edu.
